

A method for teaching expository writing

Evaluate EmPOWER is a method for teaching the essential components of the writing process explicitly and systematically. It offers teachers an instructional method and set of strategies for teaching writing in all grades and all content areas that require expository writing. EmPOWER does not replace existing writing curriculum; it helps teachers deliver curriculum more effectively so that they meet their own curriculum and instructional goals. The method provides teachers with a natural avenue for differentiating instruction and scaffolding student performance throughout the writing process. Writing then takes its rightful place for both teachers and students as a vehicle for inquiry, higher-level thinking, and learning.
