

Career Opportunity

Speech-Language Pathologist or Special Educator

Are you passionate about working with students who struggle with language, literacy, and learning? The ones who become confused and forgetful when they listen or read, get all muddled up when they talk or write, and flounder with homework and time management?

If you get out of bed to help students like these become confident and capable learners, we'd love to meet you.

Architects For Learning is looking for

- A top-notch, ASHA certified Speech-Language Pathologist or Special Educator that wants to join a team of talented and collaborative professionals who love what they do
- Licensed in Massachusetts or a state that has licensure reciprocity
- Able to design and deliver high quality assessments and curriculum-related instruction and intervention
- Committed to helping parents, teachers, school teams, and related professionals maximize what students can do in school and at home
- Committed to professional growth and providing evidence-based instruction
- Expertise in reading is highly desired
- Must be comfortable working with students of all ages face-to-face and virtually

Position details

- Part time/hourly (after school hours), or full time (2 days 10-6:00, 2 days 12-8:00, Fridays 9-5:00)
- Full time position includes vacation, health, continuing ed., and retirement benefits
- CF supervision offered if required
- Salary commensurate with experience
- Paid planning and documentation time
- Creative and collaborative environment
- Tremendous opportunity for clinical growth

Please send a resume and cover letter addressed to Dr. Bonnie Singer.